Clear, fast, responsive: Infastaub presents itself with new website

30.05.2016 News

The web presence of Infastaub has been completely revised and takes-off now with new design and innovative technology.

The web presence of Infastaub has been completely revised and takes-off now with new design and innovative technology. Design and functionality is based on trends of modern web design and considerably distinguishes from the old website. After a complete revision the new look satisfies by an optimized and well-arranged site structure. Proven features were kept and extended. Different navigation options ease to surf the website.

An intelligent user guidance, high quality regarding usability, browser compatibility and loading speed were in the focus of the relaunch. A central topic of the relaunch was also the so-called responsive web design, so that the content adjusts itself automatically to the different demands of desktops and mobile devices like smartphones or tablets.

By a clear menu navigation and manifold teaser, the user directly finds the desired information. This way, it is possible for every interested surfer to quickly get the data of the desired product, find the correct contact and to inform himself in detail.

After the facelift the website is fit for the new web era. Infastaub corresponds with that the continuous increase of mobile internet demands.
