Good for the back

25.06.2019 News Newsletter

The anatomy of humans is focused on movement and not on office work lasting for hours. Infastaub has designed all office workplaces health-promoting and changed desks to height-adjustable versions.

The anatomy of humans is focused on movement and not on office work lasting for hours. However, many people do their work in a sitting position. In perpetuity, this often causes back pain - one of the most common diseases of employees.

Desks, that can be automatically adjusted in height and the person can change periodically between standing and sitting, are helpful. The easiest way is of course with an electromotive adjustment.

Infastaub has designed all office workplaces health-promoting and changed desks to height-adjustable versions. A touch of a button, moving upwards and continue working on one's feet. This is now very easy, because healthy employees are Infastaub's most important resource.
